Saints host All-Star hockey team from Sweden

A touring Swedish all-star hockey team will play two squads from the Saints Ice Spectrum Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Willow Ice Chalet in Willow Springs.

The games were arranged by Bob Krolak, president of the Illinois Amateur Hockey Association with the cooperation of the Saints hockey organization and the Swedish Consul-General in Chicago. Plans are under way for the Saints to visit Sweden next summer in a reciprocal arrangement.

There is no admission charge to the games either night. Willow Ice Chalet will accomodate 2,700 spectators.

The team from Sweden represents the finest amateur players from that country ranging in age from 17 to 28 years. The two Saints teams are a combination of Midgets and Junior divisions (16 and 17 and 18 and over).

The Saints Midgets are 1974 state and regional champs. They played in the national hockey tourney at Niagara Falls, N.Y. earlier this year.

Mohawks clinch a city playoff spot

BY ED BRUD

The Tomchaney Mohawks, having long ago clinched the top spot in the South Suburban Connie Mack league for the first round and therefore eligible for the city playoffs, built up their record even further with two wins in three tries. Mt. Greenwood's Pirates were the only team able to stop the Mohawk express.

Manager Bill Broukal's Mohawks blanked the Pequods 4-0 Tuesday night to bring their record in the SSCM to a perfect 10-0. The Mohawks edged by the South Chicago Chiefs the night after, holding on after taking the early lead to win

The Mohawks only loss in games came on Independence Day, when Mt. Greenwood Pirates reliever Bob Quinn came in in the fourth inning of the St. Xavier league game to defuse the Tomchaney fireworks. The Pirates won the game narrowly, 6-5, in a come from behind victory.

The Mohawks, now 25-6, will take their winmaking machine back to Mt. Greenwood, this time to face the Mt. Greenwood Colonels of the Connie Mack league Sunday afternoon. The game will be played at Mt. Greenwood Park, star-

Mohawk pitcher Dave Wabick brought in the win against the South Chicago Chiefs with a strong early game performance. Wabick no-hit the Chiefs through the first four innings of the game.

After a shaky start in the first inning, in which he gave up two walks but struck out two. Wabick completely mastered the Chiefs until the fifth inning. They went down in order in the second and fourth innings, and only an error brought any trouble in the

Meanwhile, the Mohawk attack functioned efficiently. Three first inning runs gave the Tomchaney team a lead they never lost.

Loug Mathey led off the inning with a single, George Schury followed with a doul e which sent him to third, and Jack Radosevich brought them in with a three run home run over the left field fence at St. Xavier.

The next Mohawk threat surfaced in the third inning, in what could have been a much larger inning, but turned out to be one which scored only one run.

After one out, Greg the midweek series of Jackson slammed a triple which almost hit the 375 mark in center field. Jerry Gouty singled to score him.

Gary Giles singled Gouty to third, but Gouty was thrown out attempting to steal a run.Tom Litterio struck out to end the inning.

The Chiefs scored two in the fifth inning, when Wabick began to get a little wild. A wild pitch, two Mohawk errors, one passed ball and one Chiefs hit combined for the two runs.

The Chiefs scored again in the seventh, and threatened to at least send the game into extra innings, sending a man to third with two out. But Wabick settled down to strike out the last batter. The Pirates did the shutting off Thursday. After the Mohawks hit starter Jerry Zywica with two runs in each of the first two innings and threatened unsuccessfully in the third. manager Mike Delaney decided it just wasn't Zywica's day.

That decision was disastrous to both the Mohawks and losing pitcher Bob Mathews, as it brought Mathews his first loss in seven outings.

Zywica got into trouble from the start. He gave up a no-outs first inning single to Gouty, who stole second base, then was singled to third by Schury.

The Pirates wiped out Schury on a fielder's choice which saw Russ Calabrese reach first, but also saw The Consumer's Bank The Consumer's Bank Gouty score the first run. Jackson singled Calabrese around to third, and Tom Shannon singled him home.

The Mohawks scored two more runs in the second inning, off of singles from Gouty, Schury and Jackson, to take a 4-2 lead, after the Pirates had tied it up in the top of the second.

The Pirates scored on a wild Mathews, who was just too tight in the early innings to be effective. After one out, Don Stachnik tripled with a strong blast. Mathews walked Mike Lapore.

Jim Zak then scored Stachnik, moving Lapore to second. Terry Becker scored Lapore with another lead in the top of the fourth inning, then let Quinn come in to protect it.

Ron Cortez reached base on an error by Schury with one out, Bill Delaney walked, and Stachnik doubled both players home. Mathews got Lapore to fly out, but walked Zak, opening the way to a run scoring single by Becker. Quinn mowed them down in the bottom of the fourth.

Homestead victory playoff qualifier

Homestead Realty joined Tomchaney's Mohawks in the city Connie Mack playoffs by defeating a scrappy Midlothian Phils ballclub Friday 4-1.

The victory for the realtors gives them a record of 7-3 in the South Suburban Connie Mack league. The loss for Midlothian was its 5th in first round play. Friday's game was a make-up contest from an earlier 2-2 tie.

The city playoffs begin Saturday, July 13. Pairings and sites for playoff games will be announced after a meeting Monday night at the Chicago Park District it for a relief pitcher to start an occasional game due to injuries

You've heard of the mind-overmatter theory. You know, the one a doctor uses to explain why your bones are aching. It isn't arthritis. It's your mind that makes you cringe.

Whether true or not, the same theory might also apply to baseball's brand of doctors. No, not those pitchers who "doctor up" the baseball contrary to King Kuhn's rules — but relief pitchers, the starter's own personal medicine man who wiggles his way out of potentially harmful situations to give fast

For a relief pitcher it's all in the mind, too. A game winning home run off a Mike Marshall or Tug McGraw isn't always a matter of hitting the ball 425feet. It's just that the pitcher's mind isn't always where it should be whether he's in the game or not.

Dan Osinski

Dan Osinski is the most prominent "doctor" currently residing in the Southwest suburbs. Owner of Oak Forest's Squire's Inn restaurant and lounge, Osinski pitched in 51 games for the White Sox in 1969—all in relief. In his major league career, he started but 21 games. Osinski, therefore, has his own prescription on the art of relief pitching.

Why does it seem that a relief pitcher has more difficulty putting together two or three straight good seasons than a starter?

Osinski — It runs in cycles. For a year you're on and then the next you're off. I guess it's mainly because a relief pitcher has to keep building himself up mentally, whether he's in the game or not. This can become a difficult thing.

Economist — What was your own personal theory on relief pitching?

Osinski — It depended on the situation. With the bases loaded in a tie game, for example, I always felt there was more pressure on the hitter because he had to hit the ball which often resulted with him swinging at bad pitches. I always felt in my case that I had the advantage. The main thing was to keep building up mentally.

= Economist — Is it essential for a relief pitcher to develop an "out pitch?"

Osinski — Yes, I would say you've got to have a pitch you have confidence in to get the out. As for myself, I threw a lot of sliders. This forced the batter to hit the ball on the ground and gave us the potential to start a double play. Economist — Would you say it's more difficult to start or relieve?

Osinski — A starter pitches

"We're counting on you." is the statement issued this week by Palos Hills Mayor Leonard Meyer's office as the city begins to wind up its special census.

SC-F17 (2-2-72)

People mean money to a community, and for that reason city officials are eager to have every person "stand up and be counted." The population count is used as the basis for determining most tax reimbursements to a community, including Motor Fuel Tax allotments. state income tax rebates, and Revenue sharing funds. In order to have the most up-to-date tally on Palos Hills' population a coupon is printed above for the convenience of persons who might have been missed or overlooked by the census

Obese suffer heavy job bias

By GERI ZIEMBA

One group of persons largely discriminated against in job employment is fat people, according to Mrs. Rita Oster, co-owner of Quality Career Consultants, 3316 W. 95 st..

Evergreen Park. Mrs. Oster is finalizing a two-year study on unusual placement cases. She will present the results to the Illinois Employment association this year.

"In two years, I've had some excellent applicants, but because of their weight, they're discriminated against," Mrs. Oster said.

During the two years, Mrs. Oster has had several overweight persons come to her agency for employment. They ranged from five feet, 175 pounds to 5-feet-6, 250 pounds. All were women.

Mrs. Oster said they all had extremely difficult times trying to find employment. One woman was on welfare and another was unemployed, not by choice, for more than a year when they came to Quality Career.

It was then that Mrs. Oster decided to launch a personal campaign to help overweight persons find jobs.

Some of her experiences at the beginning weren't pleasant. Some employers came right out and told Mrs. Oster that they turned down her applicants because they were overweight.

"Some of the companies did have legitimate excuses, though," she said. "They have insurance policies for their companies that limits the number of pounds a person can be overweight."

Mrs. Oster also said that employers would place the blame on someone else when they turned an overweight applicant down. She said employers generally have the notion fixed in their heads that fat people are "slow, lazy and a human failing.'

Since she started her crusade, Mrs. Oster has placed all except one of her women, and in the two years, none of them have been "let go" by their employers.

"I help them to help "One man who hired an themselves," she said. obese applicant said he "I don't look down on thought she'd appreciate the job more than a girl them. When I was in organizational work, I picked up 24 pounds, and I've lost 23 since January," she said.

diet program.

Mrs. Oster emphasized that overweight people can be great employes, even better than some "ordinary" people.

"Most of them find jobs in the figure area—they usually have good minds. In their interim period between jobs, a lot of them went back to school. They knew they needed more to offer than the ordinary applicant," she said.

Mrs. Oster also requires the women who go out on interviews to be very conscious of their apparel. The rule for overweight women is no sleeveless, short or tight dresses and no pants, and a dress with only one or two colors.

"We try to take the emphasis off the body and put it on the person," she said. Mrs. Oster also added some other hints for overweight people who are job hunting. Keep applying for jobs and don't get discouraged. If you're turned down, come out and ask the employer if it's because of obesity. Go back to school and take extra courses that will enable you to offer an employer more than an ordinary applicant.

Put on your very best disposition.

Mrs. Oster also added a word of employers who interview overweight applicants.

"Look again," she said. "It's not what you see, it's what you get."

Sod installed at Vogt woods

During a short committee meeting of the Tinley-Park district Tuesday, Park Director Bob Vondrak reported the sod has been installed at Vogt woods football field and landscaping has been finished around the community building.

Further inquiries will be made to the Forest Preserve district to see if the park district can borrow snow fencing to put around the football field during the Labor Day Community Fall Festival activities. Commissioner Ted Gerritson said this could save the district from purchasing fencing for the short time it would be used. Estimates on single and double pole goal posts were quoted and Vondrak asked the commissioners to possibly make a decision by the next meeting.

Commissioner Corrine Deinert said the Concerned Citizens committee will meet Saturday, Aug. 3 at 10 a.m. to visit all park sites to see what the sites now have and recommend what is needed. Mrs. Deinhart said the next meeting of the newly formed committee is on Monday, Aug. 5, at 8 p.m. in the park building.

A recent application by the village to the Department of Housing and Urban Development has been approved effective June 28.

Under the emergency program, flood insurance at subsidized premium rates will be available of structures in amounts up to $35,000 for single-family dwellings and up to $100,000 on multi-family or nonresidential properties.

Also, insurance is available up to $10,000 per unit on residential contents and up to $100,000 on nonresidential contents.

Ridge gets flood insurance

However, coverage up to double the amounts stated may be available for those who need it, according to HUD. A rate study will be undertaken by HUD to determine this amount.

Newly constructed or substantially -improved buildings that have flood hazards may still obtain insurance at the subsidized rates until the rate study has been completed. This means that there is no longer an interim period when newly-constructed buildings cannot obtain insurance.

Homeowners and residents of Chicago Ridge should take advantage of this program, according to village attorney George Witous. Witous said that buildings located in the special flood plain must carry the insurance in order to be eligible for Federally insured loans. After June 30,1975, no such loans may be approved in communities that are not partcipating in the flood insurance program. Coverage for the insurance is available immediately to protect against loss already in progress. However, after the first 30day period of eligibility. there is a 15-day waiting period after application before the coverage takes effect. This is the advantage of purchasing the insurance immediatley, according to HUD.

Policies and forms may be obtained from any licensed property insurance agent or broker within the community. The National Flood Insurance association serving the area is State Farm Fire & Casualty, Illinois Regional Office. 2309 E. Oakland ave., Bloomington, Ill.

In other board action, appropriations of $2,438,702.50 were approved for the new fiscal year by the board. This figure is $71,655 over last year's budget, according to Trustee John McNicholas, finance chairman. Mc-Nicholas pointed out that over $500,000 is tied up in contruction and remodeling of village buildings.

award at Little Company of Mary hospital, Evergreen Park.

Over 100 junior volunteers were honored at ceremonies held in the Education Building at the hospital. The ceremony was followed by an appreciation dinner party for the junior volunteers and their parents at the Beverly Woods restaurant.

Miss Mis, a recent graduate of Oak Lawn high school, has volunteered over 800 hours of service at Little Company of Mary during the past two and one-half years. A major part of her service has been with patients on the medical floors where she is assisgned two days a week. She prepares patients for meals, feeds them when necessary, escorts patients on wheelchairs, and runs errands for them. She also writes, opens and reads letters for the patients.

As a junior volunteer captain, she has exhibited qualities of supervison, leadership and dependability. Miss Mis is con cerned about the best interests of the patients she serves and goes about her duties with a smile.

Junior volunteering at Little Company of Mary has introduced numerous teenagers to the field of health services. Many of them have continued on in schools of higher education to become doctors, nurses, x-ray and laboratory technicians, and respiratory and physical therapists. They have learned that they could reap the personal awards that come from serving hospitalized patients.

Most educators and successful business people will tell you why in three simple words:

IT BUILDS CHARACTER!

Often, the youngster who grows up in today's comfortable surroundings and gets their weekly "handout" from mom or dad never realizes the value of money or the efforts required to make it and manage it, until they are on their own. By then attitudes and habits are difficult to reverse.

Your son or daughter will learn values that stick. While making money on the route is important, the experience of getting-the-job-done-nomatter-what is more important.

If you want a challenge and scenery in golf try Canada

A golfer playing Prince Edward Island's Brudenell course once related his experience with a deceptive little pond on the fifth hole Black and deep, the pond is known as "the Inkpot," and it's a lucky golfer who can walk away with a five on that testy par-three hole." "The Inkpot" seems to have a magnet that draws golf shots into its murky

Brudenell is a beautiful course situated on the banks of the Brudenell river. With its inspiring scenery and fresh air a golfer's score doesn't seem to matter as much as his sheer enjoyment of the Brudenell is just one of the thousand beautiful golf courses in Canada. And nearly every one offers the challenge and scenic beauty that ensures great golf.

The Royal Canadian Golf association lists 819 member courses throughout Canada, including private. semi-private, and public clubs. In addition, there are over 150 other courses across the 10 provinces and two Northern Territories.

You can play public courses anytime. Green fees usually fall into the $2 to $5 range, with slightly higher weekend rates in effect in most areas. Members of the United States Golf association need only present their membership cards to play most private

In nine provinces, the golf season extends from April or May into October or November, depending on the area. But the southwest coastal region of British Columbia has golf all year long. Such British Columbia courses as the Victoria Golf club, with over 100 sand traps, several water hazards, and prevailing winds right off the neighboring sea, and the Royal Colwood are open all yearlong and have been the source of both anguish and enjoyment to golfers over a number of years. Another British Columbia course, the nine-hole Gleneagles in West Vancouver , is also open all year Here a player can be out of bounds on every shot. And, as every golfer knows. nothing beats the feeling of watching a shot settle in the very center of a narrow fairway.

In neighboring Alberta. you are far removed from the sea, in fact almost a mile above sea level in the Rockies. Here, at the Banff Springs Golf course, 80 miles from Calgary, the towering mountains can cause optical illusions about distances, and the first tee puts you off to a disconcerting start as you stand on a precipice some 50 feet from the Spray River. One of the holes, the seventh called "Gibraltar." is carved from the face of the mountain. Another interesting aspect of this course is the wildlife which occasionally wanders across the fairways.

At the Jasper Park lodge and Golf course, 177 miles north of Banff, each bunker has a definite design. You might, for example, find yourself trying to blast out of a rose or footprintshaped trap. The 10th hole is known as "The Maze." This 485-yard par-five is strewn with hazards. There is a pond. a giant trap shaped like a footprint, and a system of earthworks from which the name of the hole is derived. At this course it's said, bears sit on benches applauding good tee shots. Nobody has ever mentioned what happens to duffers.

In Saskatchewan, twothirds of the 104 courses have sand greens, a test of skill which may or may not play havoc with your score. One of the courses, the Waskesiu Lake Golf course in Prince Albert National Park, calls its eighth hole "Mae West" because of identical twin-contoured hills guarding the enterance course, the Quebec City to the green. The 18th green has trees, so that even if you are putting on the green surface, you may still have to circle a tree. Again, deer or moose may ignore early-morning shouts of "Fore" as they calmly cross the fairways. In Manitoba, golf enjoys exceptional popularity. There are more golf courses per capita in the capital city of Winnipeg than in any other city in North America except Miami, Fla. One course: the Steinbach Fly-In Golf club. 40 miles from Winnipeg, even has an adjoining airfield for golfers arriving by light aircraft. The Ontario Golf association, with 285 member clubs, is the largest such organization on the continent It organizes the world's most competitive amateur circuit. Ontario boasts many resort areas where golf is prominently featured as an attraction.

The Muskoka-Georgian Bay region of Ontario is one of the most highly developed resort centers on the continent. Here one can enjoy a total vacation, with excellent golf as an added up inside an old British fort. You have to clear the walls with the first shot.

In Quebec, golf is combined with famous hospitality and "joie de vivre" not to mention the refinements of luxury accommodation. The province boasts several welldeveloped golf-resort areas, the most famous in the Laurentians, where 62 courses nestle in the valleys just an hour's drive from Montreal. A total of 59 courses are within an hour's drive on the other side of Montreal in the Eastern Townships. And of region, with its historic past, is circled by some of the finest courses in the province.

The Manoir Richelieu, 90 miles from Montreal on the North Shore of the St. Lawrence river, is typical of the total resort areas throughout the province. Here golf, riding, sailing, bathing and a magnificent panorama compete for the vacationer's attention. The golf course sits on the ledge of a mountain jutting out into the river. There are two incline railways on the course, a unique feature in North America. The toughest hole is the fifth, a par-four, 415-yarder with an uphill fairway and prevailing winds that make it play much longer than the listed yardage.

The Atlantic Provinces -New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, and Price Edward Island have managed to maintain "links" with Scotland, the original home of many of the first settlers to the area, and the birthplace of golf.

In New Brunswick, the shores of Passamaquody Bay boast the St. Andrewsby-the-Sea Golf course, a resort landmark for more than 80 years. On the second hole, you have the disconcerting feeling of not knowing at all where the green is. The fairway rises from the tee, cresting about 160 yards out, then narrows into a neck. The fairway on this par-five narrows toward the small green. bordered on one side by a deep furrow and on the other by woods. On Nova Scotia's Cape Breton Island, the Cape Breton Highlands Golf Links features a seventh hole called "The Killiecrankie." There are three sets of traps on this

Phoenix, San Diego, San Francisco and Tuscon, at par-five leading uphill to a recessed green, which is itself protected by traps. Here again, as with many courses in the Atlantic Provinces, the sea adds a scenic touch to the game.

In Newfoundland, the Blomindon Golf course is built on a hill overlooking the city of Corner Brook, affording players a fine view of one of the province's largest cities.

Last and certainly not least, of the Atlantic Provinces, Prince Edward Island has some of the country's finest golf, as testified earlier. The Green Gables' ninth hole adjoins the famous cottage of Anne of Green Gables. The Stanhope Golf club, 16 miles from Charlottetown, features rolling, hilly, and water hazard-terrain and constant challenge for the experienced golfer and novice alike.

The property is a luxury installation. 36 stories tall and with 1,000 rooms, plus convention facilities. It is connected by plaza and concourse levels to the new Illinois Center office complex.

Guest rooms offer facilities for full length movies, among other features. Fourteen suites on the penthouse floor are equipped with fireplaces. bars, sunken tubs and whirlpools.

Hyatt hotels are widelyknown for their interesting decor, and this new Chicago unit is no exception to the rule.

Rates range from $32 to $46 single, $42 to $56 twin. Weekend packages are available and should be investigated by persons who want to come to Chicago to the numerous cultural attractions, shopping and varied night life.

National parks start taking camp reservations

Campers now can request reservation; to stay at any of 21 national parks this summer. For a $2 daily fee, reports Cong. Robert Hanrahan (R-3rd), vacationers can assure themselves of camping space and avoid unnecessary driving and wasted gas, thanks to the restoration of this National Park Service program. For a while, it looked like the experimental campground reservation system, in effect at six national parks last summer, would never get off the ground. The system was jeopardize when Congress voted to abolish user fees at all national parks, thus making it economically impossible to expand the system, or even continue it at the six original parks. However, a law passed at the end of May restored these fees in time to start the reservation system again this summer. Reservations will be accepted for July 1, 1974, and after.

To make reservations, campers can call toll-fee at 800-553-8425, or if that number is busy, the tollcharge number 319-365-4348. If the caller has a major credit card, he will be assigned a reservation over the phone, paying the $2 fee with the credit card. Otherwise, the camper can either call or write the National Park Service for a reservation form. Payment should not accompany this request, but should be sent by return mail when a reservation has been assigned. All reservation payments must be made in advance. Mail requests should be sent to Park Reservation System, P.O. Box 1976, Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52406.

Park Service spokesmen say it will probably be difficult to reach the reservation office by telephone. due to the large volume of calls expected. They advise that prospective campers send their reservation requests, including the name and date of each desired park, several weeks in advance, if possible. Reservations can be made or up to three months in advance, and will be held until noon of the second day of the reservation. After that time, the space will be available on a first come first serve basis to campers arriving at the parks. Reservations must be made by at least two days in advance. The parks included in this program are most of the major ones across the country, and include those with the highest volume of tourists, according to the Park Service. Following is a list of the affected parks: Acadia, Everglades, Grand Canvon, Grand Teton, Yellowstone, Yosemite, Platt, Assateague, Blue Ridge Parkway, Cape Hatteras Seashore, Catoctin, Crater Lake, Glacier, Great Smoky Mountains, Greenbeit, Gulf Islands, Mammoth Cave, Prince William Forest, Rocky Mountain, Sequoia, Shenandoah.

111th intersection

Harlem project to be delayed

By Shirley Christine

The project involving the widening of Harlem ave.through Worth and the improvement of the railroad overpass may not start for at least another year, it was learned at a special meeting last Wednesday.

The fact came to light when Henry Yamanaka from the Illinois Department of Highways noted that agreements between his department and the park district (land dealings) contained a June 30, 1976 deadline date for the start of construction

Worth Village President Walter Kerkstra, who had been asked to attend the meeting sponsored by the Worth-Palos Park district, expressed dismay. "Your statement is not too encouraging. We were told this project would be done in the fiscal year 1975!"

Kerkstra added that there was a particular urgency because of drainage problems in the area "If it will be so much more time before the intersection work starts, we may have to revise our drainage plans I'm very upset. We've been led down the primrose path for the past five years."

Yamanaka said the Harlem ave project had to' be rescheduled because it had not been known back the project would have to occupy public lands to the extent it now seems

Attending the special meeting in addition to Yamanaka and Kerkstra were Robert Neder and Ken Macander of IDH; Worth Trustee Don Christine and Public Works Superintendent Paul McWilliams from the village: Ken Holmberg, Frank Chuk and Wayne Brandenburg from the Worth Chamber of Commerce; as well as park district officials.

Problems of the project have involved drainage, land acquisition, and decisions as to overpass and underpass. The intersection is currently extremely congested with the traffic load at 111th and Harlem as well as the two sets of railroad

Kerkstra said that he was there to represent State Representative Herb Huskey who could not attend the meeting He added that this put him in a "very uncomfortable position."

The remark was made when Park President James Fitzgerald said the meeting was primarily to "enlighten Huskey" in regards to statements the representative had made and which appeared in the Worth-Palos Repor-

Huskey had laid the blame for 111th st. flooding problems on the park district, said Fitzgerald, and "we don't agree that we are responsible and wanted to get this straight with him."

Kerkstra spoke up saying that the park district was not to blame for the flooding. Macander, under questioning by Fitzgerald also agreed that it wasn't "just the park district. It is everyone in Worth who is responsible." Fitzgerald said the article disturbed him because he felt it was inspired by IDH. He noted that Macander had threatened to "go to the newspapers" at a point when IDH and the park district was locked over the future of Gale Moore park

At this point Yamanaka spoke up. "We didn't meet today to get chewed out and castigated. We should try for a better attitude and get this issue resolved," he added.

One of the major reasons for the meeting was to achieve a concrete understanding on provisions to the district in lieu of the temporary and permanent use of part of Gale Moore park for right-of-way for the intersection expansion.

Kerkstra agreed that the flood problem should not have been part of the differences between the highway department and the park district However, he added that if the state took proper care of 111th st there would be no flood problem.

Yamanaka said the sate law shows the state must maintain the route but according to policy, upon completion of improvements, the road could be turned over to the village for constant maintenance.

"We are willing to assume some responsibility but this is only part of it. I still call it double talk," replied Kerkstra. Chuk told Yamanaka that his the traffic pattern, as 75 percent of the traffic using 111th st was through traffic. Yamanaka, who arrived late for department should make a study of the meeting, said "We are trying to do something, and should I just got stuck in that traffic "

Yamanaka again pointed out that it was most expedient to reach an agreement on the park land so that "we can go forward on 111th st"

After going over the agreement between IDH and the park district point by point, Fitzgerald said the park commissioners would discuse it at another session. "We can't agree to flood situation remedies until the village board agrees to it The village engineer will view the flood plan for the park district and the department will assume the fee," he said.

A majority of the points were agreed to, with one of the points being that the agreement would be null and void if construction work was not started by June 30, 1976

Yamanaka said he would have to check further if they could get approval to execute a land exchange

Kerstra maintained that 111th st. "is a major east-west four laner and please don't treat it like a stepchild "

Yamanaka said they would have to go with priorities as 111th st. was an unmarked road.

Heights rejects car wash

By LOIS ZAKARAS Special use zoning to allow a car wash on the southwest corner of the intersection of Rt. 83 and Harlem ave. was rejected by the Palos

Heights City council Tuesday night. COMMUNITY HAPPENINGS

Armageddon

"The Road to Armageddon," a film depicting the events foreshadowing the last world war at Armageddon, will be presented at the Assembly of God church, 84th jand State rd., Burbank, Wednesday evening.

Admission vill be free to the film, proluced by Rev. David Wilkerson of Youth Crusades.

In remarks prior to the vote, Alderman Jim Pasquinelli read the committee recommendation which advocated "turn-down" on the basis of "traffic problems, availability of alternate sites for such an operation, and the possibility of the land being developed with something that would bring higher real estate taxes."

The zoning board too, following a public hearing, had suggested that the plans not be approved.

It was also hinted that a previous mini-mall plan for the property might be reinstated.

The mall idea had gone through all channels successfully, but the developer had not started the project, "because of some financial problems" before the rezoning limits had expired. Further the owner of the property, when it looked like the mall had hit a snag, started negotiations with gasoline company people who proposed the car wash, together with a Brown's fried chicken establishment, and some retail

An attempt was made by car wash representatives to present further

Following the council vote of rejection, representatives of the car wash request abruptly left the meeting, declaring as they went that the "actions you gentlemen have taken are illegal.'

In other business the council gave unanimous approval to the appropriation ordinance which would allow spending of some $959,050 for general government; $506,600 in the police department; $288,450 in public works: $131,000 for library; $76,400 for recreation; and $1,072,800 in the water sewer account.

It was pointed out that the watersewer sum was set high with the possible extension of the system and

The security check of the 7-11 began when Barton found an open door at the rear of the store. Eastman and Peyton responded as the back-up unit.

Eastman was "caught" with four magazines when the shift commander, Lt. Dean Utter, came to the store after receiving an anonymous phone tip that officers there were 'loading a trunk" with items from the store.

Utter checked out the Peyton-Eastman squad and found the magazines. He did not check Barton's squad. Utter said he admonished the trio "not to take even one stick of gum" from the store and then left. It was two days after the incident before he informed former police chief Kenneth C. O'Brien what happened.

Wilson, when asked if there would be further charges brought against any other officers in connection with the incident said, "We have noted some inconsistencies, perhaps poor investigative work. Whether or not is is the function of the commission to pursue it remains to be decided within the Civil Service commission.'

Eastman Peyton and Barton all mentioned the magazine incident in "to-from" reports, memoranda to O'Brien. No mention was made in any of those reports of Barton or Peyton taking anything from the store. Eastman said he did not mention what later became his testimony in the report because he understood a to-from should concern only his ac-individuals have been screened and about two thousand have been found to have the disease

The screenings are being co-sponsored by the Tinley Park Lions club, which has signed up volunteers to help the professional staff supplied by the Illinois society in carrying out the tests. The tests take only a few minutes. They are painless and designed to reassure all those who do not have glaucoma and to forewarn those with elevated eye

Besides the church, the semi-private, familyoriented Turners recreational club will be constructed on the site, with the southeast corner of the parcel reserved for future commercial development, possibly as a neighborhood-type shopping center. The developers have yet to present a final plat for the church and parking lot in phase one which will be subject to a public hearing.

Ridgeland ave. Kaup had originally sought a PUD rezoning to build condominiums on the single family residential zoned property. After more than 80 area residents voiced strong opposition to the move at a public hearing, the Tinley Zoning Board of Appeals rejected Kaup's request Kaup's new plan calls for the construction of 25 single-family buildings on eight acres of land. Kaup, however, has not met Tinley's minimum required lot size of 7,500 square feet on all his lots and the plan was taken under advisement.
